

Meaghan E. Murphy, Associate

"As a litigator, it is important to me that clients understand all their options—and the possible outcomes—well before entering a courtroom. I have years of experience with employment and labor law in Massachusetts and Connecticut, and have represented clients in everything from collective bargaining, to court appearances, to advising on employment issues, including discipline and termination. This broad knowledge and experience allows me to give clients a full picture of the legal process they face, and their rights and responsibilities."
