Jonathan A. Breton

SHAREHOLDER

"Working with businesses is the heart of my practice, and I always keep a client's vision at the forefront of our work together. I understand exactly what is at stake when a business owner is looking to grow, buy, or sell a company, and what it takes to make their goals a reality. From years of representing investors, small family businesses, large corporations, and companies of all sizes across many different industries, I have developed the practical knowledge that my clients need to ensure smooth transactions. For me, business is personal. "
